Made of premium high-density poly and stainless steel hardware, our products are made to get comfortable with mother nature.

Designed and Manufactured in the Province of Ontario, Canada

Conveniently located in the Great Lakes region of Southern Ontario, we have been designing and building our very own home and cottage furniture since 1986. All our products are engineered with comfort, quality, and style first and foremost.

The KRAHN team says thank-you for supporting Canadian business.

Recycled Plastic

The pros and cons

It's Recycled

HDPE(High-Density Polyethylene), or Poly for short, is an environmentally healthy and maintenance-free alternative to wood. Poly is made from purified blends of recycled plastics; the kind that come from recyclable waste such as food containers and industrial packaging, which are otherwise destined for our oceans and landfills. Some new plastics are introduced into the blend to meet specifications the final product requires, such as structural strength, but recycled plastic content remains well over 95%.

Extremely Durable

Poly is an extremely durable material, which is engineered and extruded using state-of-the-art technology, and is surpassed by none. It offers extreme resistance to worldly elements and every day wear-and-tear. Of course, it's not bullet-proof. It can mark and dent, but hides it well with colour and consistency that is through-and-through.

All-Season Weather-Resistant

With exceptional resistance to moisture; poly will not rot, splinter or crack. This material is also impervious to many other hazards of environmental exposure such as ice, salt, insects, stains, and corrosive substances.

Poly is an environmentally healthy and maintenance-free alternative to wood.

Appealing Textures and Colours

Poly is pleasing to the eye and delightful to the touch. Available in an ever-increasing range of colours and textures that look good, and make you feel good. Our raw poly material is extruded, resulting in a finished product that is texturally consistent and waxy smooth...unless you choose the premium textures, which are a rougher finish, meant to mimic the rougher surface of naturally weathered wood grain.

Low-Maintenance

This wonderful material requires no water-proofing, staining, or any other similar type of recurring maintenance. See the product care section for tips on caring for your chairs.

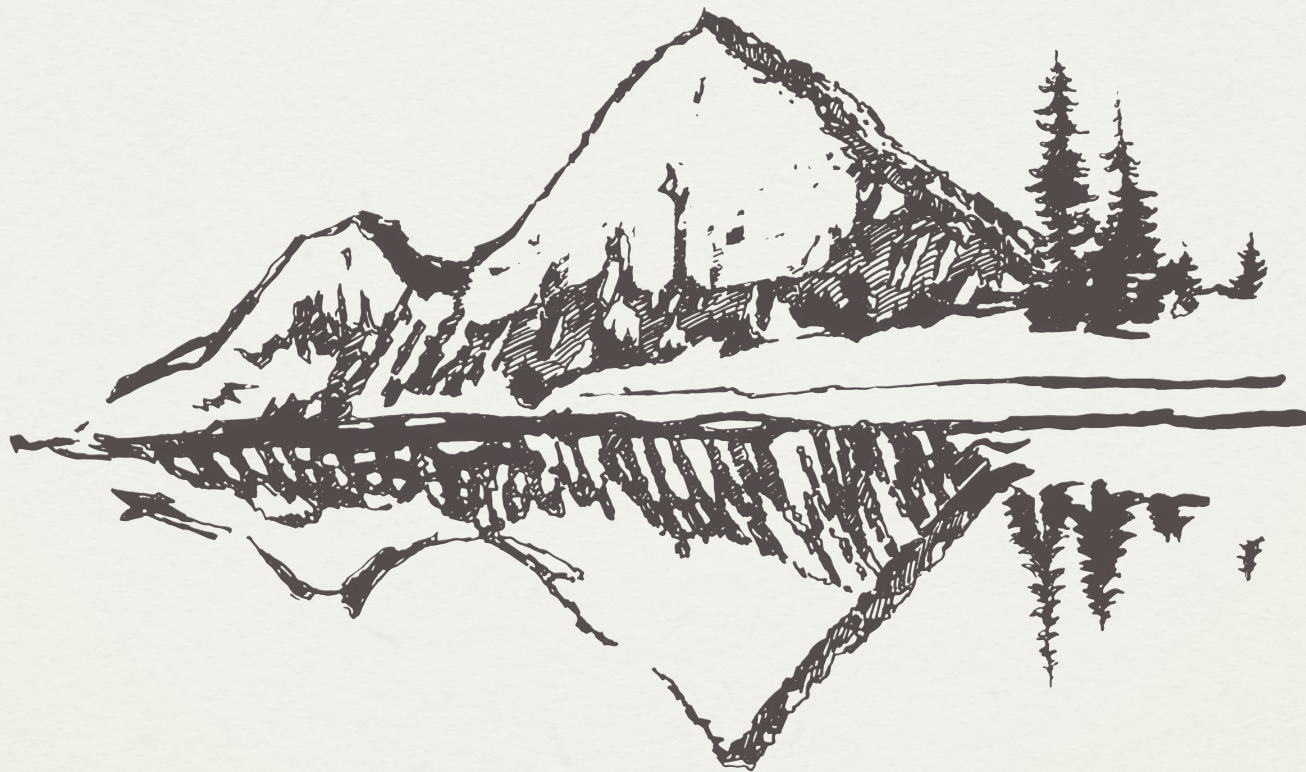

Exceptionally Fade-Resistant

Extrusion technologies(how the poly is mixed with additives like UV inhibitors, and formed) have advanced considerably since early-generations, resulting in a material that is becoming increasingly fade resistant. With built-in UV protection, most colours see little-to-no fade over the service life of the product. UV light affects colours differently. For less fade, especially in direct sunlight, choose lighter and more neutral colours.

Product Care

One of the many benefits to using, or when considering purchasing our chairs, is that unlike wood, they are maintenance-free and extremely weather-resistant. Our products are meant to stay outside...happily.

But, since they can become quite the investment, you want to do your best to make them last a lifetime...maybe longer. There are a few tips to help keep them looking like new.

Cleaning. Soap and water usually does the trick when cleaning, or cleaning up messes. Try this first.

Poly is a non-absorbent material, meaning spills and stains will wipe away easily.

We pressure wash our own chairs in the Spring, and that is all we do to them. They can look like new decades later.

Don't get too close, unless you want to risk ruining the waxy smooth finish. Warranty will not cover these kinds of mistakes. Be careful.

Worth Noting. Strong solvents and cleaners are usually safe when removing tougher stains. We recommend trying anything like this underneath the chair first, just to be on the safe side.

UV-Protection. When it comes to fade, there are a few ways to help preserve the original colour of your product. These tips are only beneficial if your chair is in direct sunlight every day, and you've chosen a vibrant or dark colour.

Neutral colours are your best bet for combating heat and fade.

Outdoor furniture covers are readily available by doing a search online or by inquiring at your local hardware store. We do not sell them.

UV-protection sprays can also help guard against the sun's harmful rays. Our own chairs sit in the shade their entire life, so fade isn't an issue, but popular UV sprays such as 303, which is widely available, will go a long way in protecting the colour and vibrancy of your chair.

Worth Noting. Most colours, in an atypical environment, will fade so slightly and gradually, to the point you will never notice. The industry has started calling this colour-change. That might be very obvious, but it means most colours that do fade, will fade to an acceptable colour, which is close to the original colour. Some colours, such as red, will obviously fade less gracefully, but for the most part, the built-in UV protection does a pretty good job.

Hardware. Over many years of use and abuse, chairs can start to fatigue, and feel slightly wobbly and loose. This is caused by material breakdown and hardware creeping loose. Don't fret; nothing will fall apart. Bolts can be tightened, even with hand tools, to make your chair feel solid and rigid again. Most of our chairs feature only a handful of exposed fasteners, but just tightening these every 5-10 years, can make a world of difference.

Insect Repellent. In certain areas, and please remember, this is not our area of expertise, but some insects seem to be drawn to colours such as Yellow, Blue, and White. This might have something to do with natural light and dead plants, we don't really know. We can only recommend staying away from these colours if you've experienced insects being attracted to your furniture. Through our very limited research, we have come across a natural repellent solution called Neem, that might be available at your local hardware store or garden centre. We have not tested this nor have we had the reason too. Good Luck.
